Identification Data

25X1

1. See page 3 [] which [] identified the following points:

25X1

1. A double-tracked rail line which led west to Krasnokamak (N 58-05, E 55-36).¹

2. A small railroad station called "37th Razezd". A settlement nearby was known as Proletarka. []

25X1

3. A rail line not indicated on any available maps. This rail line was single-tracked and had wooden ties. [] this line was recently built in connection with the construction of the dam across the Kama River. All building material was presumably transported on this line to the construction site. The rail line extended beyond the projected dam to an unknown distance and originated at the rail station (Point 2). The condition of the track was described as fair.

6. Shirvaikha, a very small native settlement [redacted] observed single-engined air-borne aircraft over the area of the airfield. These aircraft were single-winged [redacted] 25X1
7. A dam. [redacted] the project was started before World War II and [redacted] it had to be abandoned until late 1948 or early 1949. [redacted] 25X1
- [redacted] two of the projected five turbines had been completed. It was rumored that a rail line would be built along the top of the dam.

Site Layout

2. See page 4, [redacted] sketch of an unidentified airfield near Molotov. 25X1
1. A rail line with the same details as in Point 3 on page 1.
2. Two aircraft scrap heaps where metal parts of destroyed aircraft were piled up. [redacted] 25X1
3. Approximate area of the airfield which measured one kilometer by one kilometer. The rail line-side of this airfield was enclosed with a two-meter-high fence topped with barbed wire. No guards were observed. The surface of this area was grass.
4. An aircraft parking area with a dirt surface. [redacted] aircraft lined up here [redacted] the aircraft faced south. The number of aircraft varied each time [redacted] This parking area was approximately 300 m from the rail line. 25X1 25X1 25X1
5. A single-storied building, 20 x 15 m, with a flat roof; construction material unknown. This was the only permanent structure on the field.
6. Three identical tanks which resembled railroad tank cars on a wooden substructure. 25X1
7. A possible runway [redacted] where [redacted] once observed a [redacted] aircraft coming in to land; this aircraft came from the direction of the Kama River. 25X1 25X1
